

NEWS IN THE MODERN WORLD

Earlier people watch more TV and they did read newspaper.

In our project called Nemesis, we are talking about new medias in democratic societies. We gave out a survey for both students and adults, where they answered questions about how they are getting their news and other questions related to news. When we got the answers from the survey, we noticed some differences between adults and students and interesting answers about how they are getting their news.

In survey we could see that adults get their news mostly from internet, but why? We think it's because the internet has developed and before we have internet we were getting our news from newspapers. it's easier to get news, because you can easier watched more news on the TV than they actually do. When big things are happening, most people are watching TV, but it is like we already wrote it is easier to use the internet and easier to just watch the news you are interested in.

We think that the internet has developed and it has changed the way we get our news. In the survey we saw that the students thought their parents watch more TV than they actually do. The adults and the students didn't read the newspaper anymore and that's also because the internet has developed. People this days are a little bit lazy and we could see that in the survey, because both students and adults goth there news for the internet and social media, easy ways to get their news.

Lucia, Francisco, Zahra, Aya and Camilla