

Erasmus+ Nemesis Movies in cultures

Movies are a huge part of a country's culture. In this project, each country (Germany, Denmark, Norway and Slovakia) chose a movie for the participants to watch. We want to experience and share different cultures, while discussing the things that makes us wonder. In this poster you'll learn more about the movies, why we chose them and what makes them special.

A Royal affair

The Danish movie is about Queen Caroline Mathilde. She was a Danish Queen in the 18th century, who had an affair with the royal house doctor. Together they made reforms to give rights to the ordinary Danish citizens.

Karianne from Norway says that the movie where both catching and leranful. She liked that there where a love triangle and history

Backstage

Backstage is a Slovak movie about a dance competition and all the drama that occurs when young dancers compete. It's about love, lies, friendship, glamour and competition.

Marie from Denmark says that even though the movie has a plot that has been seen before, the clothes and surroundings shows the Slovak culture, and that's super cool!

"EVERY TIME I GO TO A MOVIE, IT'S MAGIC, NO MATTER WHAT THE MOVIE'S ABOUT."

- Steven Spielberg

Louis and Luca – The big cheese race

The Norwegian movie is about two mountain villages that are fighting each other. They compete in a cheeserace, but in the end the main character learns that winning isn't everything.

Noah from Denmark thinks that the movie is funny. The movie shows norwegian culture in a great way, however the jokes can be hard to relate to if you're not from scandinavia

Suck me Shakespeer

A young German guy is let out of prison and discovers that a bag of money is hidden at a school. Trying to get the money, he starts working at the school, where he teaches a group of young rebels about ?.

Alzbeta from Slovakia found the movie hilarious. She watched it several times and found the humor, culture and plot amazing!

Why I chose the movie...

Alzbeta, Slovakia: "I chose "Bacsktage" because it is about dance and I really liked the movie. I also thought all teenagers would like it, since it's about problems you meet when you are young."

Karianne & Liv, Norway: "The big Cheese Race is a classic childrens movie in Norway. We thought it would be a great way to show the norwegian culture"

Marie and Noah, Denmark: "In Denmark we are very proud about our royal history. Therefore, it could be nice to share one of the more spectacular stories. This movie was also nominated for an Oscar, which is a great honour!"

Katja, Germany: "My friends and I found "Suck me Shakespeer" really funny. I also realised that some people in the group already had seen it, wich kinda proves my point;)"
